Japan's Yoshida Resigns

Steps Down In Face Of Overwhelming Opposition On Both Sides In Parliament

Harold W. Barrick

Barrick Heads Pettis County Palsy Group

Harold Barrick was elected president of the United Cerebral Palsy Association of Pettis County at a meeting of that organization Monday night at the courthouse. Other officers elected were Del Heckart, first vice-president; Mrs. Maurine Bluhm, Smithton, second vice-president; Mrs. A. J. Menefee, secretary, and Mrs. Ralph Hodges, treasurer.

Members of the new board of directors are Don King, Abe Silberman, A. B. Warren, L. A. Pharris, Ralph Becker, Aaron Haller, Virgil Herrick, Mrs. George West and Dan Jarvis.

The principal business of the meeting was the corporating of the organization.

Jury Convicts Labor Leaders Of Racketeering

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP) — A federal court jury today convicted Evan R. Dale and James Bateman, southern Illinois labor leaders, of labor racketeering in connection with construction of a multi-million dollar power plant at Joppa, Ill.

Both men had been charged with attempting to extort $1,030,000 from Ebasco Services Inc., contractor on the project. Dale alone was charged with extorting $7,500 from a subcontractor on the project.

Federal Judge Fred L. Wham announced the verdict as court opened this morning. The jury had returned the verdict in a sealed envelope shortly after midnight.

The defendants are subject to a maximum sentence of 20 years in prison and a $10,000 fine on each count. Sentence will be pronounced later.

Dale, testifying in his own behalf, had denied all the accusations. Bateman did not testify.

Dale heads the AFL Common Laborers Union in southern Illinois. Bateman is a business agent for the AFL Pipefitters Union. The plant is to provide power for a sealed envelope shortly after midnight.

The business men who bankroll Yoshida's Liberal party, as well as many Liberal party leaders, have been urging Yoshida to resign. He held on through four hours of heated debate this morning, but finally threw in the towel.

Hatoyama has said there will be no change in Japan's relations with the United States if he is tapped for the Prime Minister's job.

He says he has a "fundamental conviction that Russia is never to be trusted," but he feels full diplomatic relations between Japan and Russia can "help avert war between the United States and Russia."

Hatoyama, former education minister who sat out World War II in disfavor with the militarists, will be assuming the job about nine years behind schedule.

He is the original organizer of Yoshida's Liberal party. He won the first postwar elections on a slogan of "Defend the Emperor, defeat the Communists." As he was about to assume the post of prime minister, the occupation purged him from public life.

Yoshida took over for a short term, stepped aside for a while, and then was named again in October 1948. The diminutive, cigar-smoking leader has run Japan ever since. But he made many enemies. His fellow conservatives call him a dictator who refuses to consult them on his policies. The Socialists call him reactionary.

Makes Success Of Cushioning Railroad Tracks

ASHTABULA, Ohio (AP) — Some day you may not be able to hear the train along the track, clickety-clack, clickety-clack.

Nelson K. Moses, a former fireman and engineer, predicts trains of the future will ride on rubber-cushioned rails. He is so convinced he quit the railroad and opened a plant that makes rubber rail cushions.

He expects to sell $150,000 worth this year. That's more than 20 times the gross business he did in 1951, when he opened shop, and he believes the business is still in its infancy.

The cushions he makes now go between the plate and the tie and between the plate and the rail. They not only reduce noise and vibration, he said, but also cut track maintenance costs, which now take half of the railroads' gross revenue. Moses said more than 50 railroads are already using rubber cushions at points of stress and have found they cut track maintenance costs by 85 percent.

He is convinced trains of the future will not use wooden ties at all.

"The tracks will rest on pressurized concrete roadbeds, cushioned with rubber," he predicts. Even the rails themselves may be rubber.

Moberly Has New Railroad Underpass

MOBERLY, Mo. (AP) — A $262,000 underpass now is carrying U.S. highway traffic under the Wabash Railroad tracks here.

The new structure, dedicated yesterday, enables motorists to reach any part of the city without being held up by trains.

The resolution, agreed upon after a series of private talks by the 16, touches on three main points:

1. It charges Red China violated the Korean armistice agreement by holding the fliers.

2. It declares the Assembly should condemn such violations.

3. It asks the 60-nation body to call on Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold to use "unremitting efforts" to obtain release of the men and report back to the Assembly by Dec. 31.

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Jackson County Shrine Club yesterday presented former President Harry S. Truman with a life membership in the club, and an undisclosed amount of money for the Truman Library fund.

Claims Secret Pledge

South Viet Nam Army Reports One Signed By Vietnamese Reds, Chinese Communists

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — The South Viet Nam army claimed today that the Vietnamese Communists and the Chinese Reds have signed a secret pledge to help each other in any military operations to achieve their No. 1 objective Formosa for the Chinese and the rest of Indochina for Ho Chi Minh's Vietminh.

The army said in a regular broadcast today that the reported agreement, signed recently in Peiping, also provides for joint Russian-Chinese-Vietnamese control of the big North IndoChina port of Haiphong, which the French and South Vietnamese under the Geneva agreement are to cede to Ho Chi Minh's North Viet Nam forces by the middle of next May.

The Vietminh already have taken over all of North Viet Nam except the Haiphong area.

The South Vietnamese broadcast gave these details of the reported agreement:

1. The Vietnamese Communists will send an undesignated number of troops to participate in any attack on Formosa.

2. In exchange, the Chinese Reds promised to send "important forces" to North Viet Nam in the event it becomes necessary to repel hostilities in IndoChina. Under the terms of the Geneva armistice, North and South Viet Nam are to be unified by countrywide elections not later than July 1956. The Vietminh so far expect to win in any such vote.

3. Haiphong, IndoChina's No. 2 port, will be turned into a powerful naval and army base for any future advance southward. Peiping will send specialists and technicians to assist in the buildup of the port.

There was no immediate comment on the report from French or American sources in Saigon.

Dulles Believes Struggle Shifts To Money Basis

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles said today that the struggle with international communism has shifted somewhat from military to economic competition because fear of open war has lessened.

He also told a news conference that Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen will return to Moscow tomorrow with authority to seek improvement in diplomatic relations with the Soviet government.

The United States would welcome removal of the virtual iron curtain which, Dulles said, cuts off informal contacts between Western diplomats and Soviet officials in the Russian capital, he told reporters.

Dulles said, too, that he probably will discuss with British and French foreign ministers in Paris next week the problem of exploring with the Russians the possibility of setting up a Big Four meeting on German and other specific issues next spring.

He will see Anthony Eden of Britain and Pierre Mendes-France, French premier and foreign minister, when he attends a meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Council at Paris.

Someone Sabotages Rain-Making Machine

LAGUNA BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Any rain that Laguna Beach gets in the immediate future will have to be a gift of nature.

Someone has sabotaged the town's rain-making machine. The device, which shoots acid crystals into rain clouds, was found dismantled, and a gauge and the tubing was stolen. The city plans to replace it.

Urgent Assembly Debate Called...

Western Diplomats Predict Speedy Approval Of Resolution Demanding Airmen's Release

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Western diplomats predicted today that the U.N. Assembly will vote speedy approval of a resolution by the 16 Korean allies demanding release of 11 American airmen held in Red China on spy charges.

The 15-nation Steering Committee voted over bitter Soviet opposition last night to call for urgent Assembly debate Wednesday on the Allied proposal.

The resolution, agreed upon after a series of private talks by the 16, touches on three main points:

1. It charges Red China violated the Korean armistice agreement by holding the fliers.

2. It declares the Assembly should condemn such violations.

3. It asks the 60-nation body to call on Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold to use "unremitting efforts" to obtain release of the men and report back to the Assembly by Dec. 31.

Parachutes to Safety From Jet Fighter

CHILLICOTHE (AP) — An Air Force pilot parachuted to safety from an F-86D jet fighter plane which crashed about 15 miles southwest of here yesterday.

The pilot was Lt. Ronald E. Harlow, 24, Waynesboro, Va., stationed at the Grandview Air Force Base.

He bailed out at 25,000 feet and landed a mile from where the plane hit. He suffered shoulder and neck injuries, shock and frostbite.

Twenty-two minutes after leaving Grandview Harlow radioed the base that his instruments showed a fire warning. He started back to the base but bailed out a few minutes later.

Sec. Mitchell Hits 'Right To Work' Laws

Makes Surprise Stand In Speech Prepared For CIO Convention

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell today came out flatly against state "right-to-work" laws outlawing labor contract provisions that workers must become union members.

Mitchell's declaration that he was opposed "categorically" to such laws now in effect in 17 states, mostly in the South and West, came as a surprise in a speech prepared for the annual CIO convention.

Labor unions are as much or more concerned with getting such laws repealed and preventing enactment of new ones in other states as they are with changing or repealing the federal Taft-Hartley law.

Both the CIO and AFL have outlined campaigns to have state legislatures ditch the "right-to-work" laws next year. They generally make illegal any labor contract arrangement for the union shop or similar proviso requiring workers to join unions.

Mitchell, whose speech also conveyed "warm personal greetings" to the CIO from President Eisenhower, practically invited their repeal of such laws. He recommended that they be "further considered" by states.

"They will find that these laws do more harm than good," he said. "In the first place, these 'right-to-work' laws do not create any jobs at all. In the second place, they result in undesirable and unnecessary limitations upon the freedom of working men and women and their employers to bargain collectively."

"Thirdly, they restrict union security and thereby undermine the basic strength of labor organizations. I oppose such laws categorically."

The Taft-Hartley law permits union shop contract clause but specifically says they are illegal in any state which prohibits them.

The wisdom and morality of compulsory union membership have provided one of the classic arguments in labor relations. Unions claim that nonmembers they represent are "free riders" and get collective bargaining gains without contributing to the cost by paying dues. The employers steadfastly maintain it is wrong to make workers join unions.

"I believe," said Mitchell, "that when employers and unions representing a majority of their employees agree on a union shop they should have the right to have one."

The "right-to-work" laws are presently in effect in Arizona, Arkansas, Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Iowa, Louisiana, Mississippi, Nebraska, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia, North and South Carolina, and North and South Dakota.

The message ready by Mitchell from Eisenhower complimented labor unions for helping "strengthen our general welfare, our national prosperity and our democracy."

Eisenhower Declines To Address CIO Meet

LOS ANGELES (AP) — President Eisenhower sent word yesterday to the CIO convention that he regretted he could not accept an invitation to address the group because of an already "formidable" schedule.

The second half of the program began with "España Rhapsody" by Emmanuel Chabrier, and in this again the orchestra was put on its mettle and came through.

Pettis Farm Bureau Re-elects William McCune

William P. McCune was re-elected president of the Pettis County Farm Bureau at its annual meeting Saturday night at the Liberty Park Convention Hall.

Jerry Conaway, Hughesville, was elected vice-president, Mrs. E. H. Gregory of Houstonia, secretary, and Mrs. Bill Yarbore, Sedalia, treasurer.

The following directors were elected for two-year terms: Blackwater Township, W. T. Summerskill; Bowling Green Township, Mrs. Mary Summers; Cedar Township, Albert Bunge; Dresden Township, Charles Snow; Elk Fork Township, Mrs. Willard Hall; Flat Creek Township, Mrs. J. T. City Council Passes a New Ordinance Revamping Old Regulations on Traffic

Takes One Hour and 29 Minutes For Third Reading; Loading Zones Are Cut In Only Changes

(By D. Kelly Scruton)

Sedalia's City Council experienced the longest reading of an ordinance Monday night, when the new traffic ordinance was read and unanimously voted into a Sedalia law. It was also one of the longest meetings ever held by the City Council, lasting for three hours and 40 minutes.

The Council also put in time in hearing bids on police cars, a truck for the Sanitation Department; another for the Street and Alley Department, bids for the removal of trees on Madison from 14th to 16th and trees on Liberty Park Blvd. from Limit to Carr, to improve streets etc., and other projects. It also voted to purchase parking meters for the city parking lot west of the City Hall; voted $100 to the Police Department to be used in the annual Christmas treats for children; besides passing other ordinances, and transacting other regular city business.

Opening the Council meeting Clerk Winston C. Ream read the minutes of the last meeting which took 20 minutes. Exactly at 7:50 p.m. the next order of business was called and that was the reading of ordinances to be read for the second and third time for final passage. First on the docket was the traffic ordinance which was introduced by caption at the last meeting but was up for full reading and final passage.

The ordinance, which is 47 pages long, legal size paper, took one hour and 29 minutes to be read. Clerk Ream started the reading and read 16 pages. Thirty-one minutes later he turned it over to City Counselor W. F. Brown for reading.

As Brown read six pages in ten minutes and was relieved by Ream who went to page 36 reading 29 minutes. Counselor Brown then took over and finished reading the ordinance, taking 19 minutes.

At the conclusion Councilman Ronald Snavely asked the part regarding loading zones to be read again. Counselor Brown then read the description of the 27 loading zones. After completing this reading Councilman Snavely remarked,

"We will endeavor to play our part well in this commendable community effort, because our children and youth certainly have a responsibility for traffic safety."

"Our record of child safety on the streets and highways of Sedalia is impressive. No children have been injured in traffic accidents in the last three years in going to and from school."

"But this problem is a continuous one. Our schools must give attention to it throughout each year. S-D Day gives us a fine opportunity to join with others in keeping our community free of traffic accidents for at least one whole day."

Former Sedalian Reviews Novel
For Sorosis Members on Monday

Miss Ruth Fitzgerald, Warrensburg, former Sedalian, reviewed the book "Too Late Phalarope" by Alan Paton at the meeting of Sorosis Monday afternoon.

Paton, a native of South Africa, is of English parents, a teacher, social worker and author. Miss Fitzgerald explained, "The Union of South Africa is one of mountains and valleys. But there is more than that, the solemn deep undertones of its people. In Africa there are only a few white people compared to a million of colored mixture, a fourth-million Indians and eight million blacks."

The story deals with a beloved white police lieutenant named Peter, who turns to a native girl because he has never been able to find himself. A good boy with athletic honors and war honors a love for good reading, for stamp collection, for birds, he grew up in a home where the father dominated.

His mother, a woman of sweet nature and strong character, but who lived under the domination of the father of the family, who read only the Bible and the newspaper, tried to reach the heart of her son but couldn't. Aunt Sophia, the maiden aunt, sister of his father, who adored Peter but knew he sealed himself away from her. Aunt Sophia had deformity, which she felt set her apart from other people, so she became a watcher.

There was a law against the marriage of white man and native and Peter had saved a young boy from such a disgrace with the native girl, who sold liquor illegally when she had no work. It was in this way that Peter had come to know the girl, getting her employment.

Even in his marriage, that his family thought would bring him out of his shell, through love, Peter felt a loneliness. And while his wife was away he went to the native girl and did the thing he had warned the young boy against. The one thing that would bring him before the court and that would disgrace and humiliate his family. That would, if he was seen, cause him much agony.

Then he found on his door a note, "I saw you," and he was grief stricken. His imagination got away with him. He imagined the office boy had heard because he didn't speak. The captain ignored him, and an old man, a long time friend, turned away. Peter was in agony. It was several days that he suffered and then he found that the office boy needed only money which he gladly gave him. The captain was just moody. The old man had heard he could no longer keep his cattle on some land and thought that Peter, or the police, would make him take them away. And then someone asked if he had gotten the note on the door. The note had been put there teasingly because he had seen Peter with his Cousin Ann at a tavern. Peter was a guest.

Six Hanged For Attempt To Kill Nasser

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — Six members of the extremist Moslem Brotherhood were hanged in Cairo's military prison today for plotting to assassinate Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser and overthrow his government.

Disregarding pleas for clemency from other Moslem countries, Egypt's governing Revolutionary Council carried out the executions ordered by a military court, which convicted the men Saturday.

First to die was Mahmoud Abdel Latif, a tinsmith who fired eight wild shots at Nasser Oct. 26 during an Alexandria rally.

Barefooted, his legs shaking and his eyes bulging with fear, Abdel Latif was half carried to the gallows by the executioner and his assistant.

"God forgive my sins," he cried before he plunged through the trap door.

The other five executed were Yousef Talata, head of the brotherhood's secret order; Hindawi Duweir, accused of furnishing the pistol used in the assassination attempt; Ibrahim el Tayeb, head of the secret order's Cairo Branch; Abdel Kader Oda, and Mohamed Farghali, the order's leader in the Ismailia district.

The brotherhood's top leader, Supreme Guide Hassan el Hodeiby, also was sentenced to death but this later was commuted to life imprisonment at hard labor.

Talaat first implicated former President Mohamed Naguib in the plot. Naguib was removed from the presidency and placed under house arrest. Government officials have said, however, they do not plan to bring charges against him.

Pope's Doctor Says Pontiff Gains Strength

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Pius XII's private physician said the ailing pontiff was able to take more nourishment today and that "all goes well."

Dr. Riccardo Galeazzi — Lisi reported the 78-year-old head of the Roman Catholic Church passed a tranquil night. A nun and a physician remained in attendance throughout the night.

The Pope has been regaining strength slowly during three days of revised treatment. A reliable Vatican source said his sleep was "interrupted two or three times" last night but he was able to rest fairly well.

It was the fourth night in a row in which the Pope's sleep was described in such terms. But Vatican sources emphasized he remained in a serious, though not desperate, condition after his serious collapse last Thursday.

Specialists began a new course of treatment last Saturday to relieve the Pope's gastric ailment and build up his strength. It consists of the administration of blood plasma, liver extracts, vitamins, amino acids and—since Sunday—small quantities of broth by mouth.

Yesterday he took broth three times. Except for a few sips Sunday, he had not taken food by mouth for a week.

Will Defend Ike Policies On Financing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Top Treasury and Federal Reserve Board officials meet with congressional group today to explain administration money policies in the face of charges they inflicted "very great damage" to the economy.

Heading the list of witnesses were Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey and W. Randolph Burgess, his under secretary for monetary policy.

They were called by the Subcommittee on Economic Stabilization of the Senate-House Committee on the Economic Report.

Hearings opened yesterday, with the sharpest criticism of Eisenhower administration credit and money policies coming from John D. Clark, one-time member of former President Truman's Council of Economic Advisors.

Clark said "very great damage has been done" to the economy by "an unhappy experiment with repressive monetary policy."

He contended the Eisenhower administration's money managers "set out to upset the business boom" and now "compliment themselves that they have done well in not bringing on a real depression."

Another critical witness from a panel of businessmen and economists was Harvard Prof. Seymour E. Harris. He told the committee an increase in interest rates caused by Treasury and reserve board policies early in 1953 which followed.

Frazer B. Wilde, president of Connecticut General Life Insurance Co., of Hartford, Conn., however, praised administration fiscal policies. He agreed with a previous Treasury and reserve board assessment of the situation that in 1952 and early 1953 the economy was in boom conditions calling for restraint of credit "if boom or bust was to be avoided or mitigated."

The authorities "lived up to their responsibilities" and followed "sound policy" in money and credit control, he said.

Sacred Heart News—Students Get Second Six-Week Period Grades

By Bill Couhig

Monday morning at 11:15 the Rev. A. J. Brunswick, school superintendent, distributed grade cards for the second six-week period. After giving out all the report cards, Father Brunswick gave a talk in which there was both advice and encouragement. He also remarked that on the whole the grades had improved.

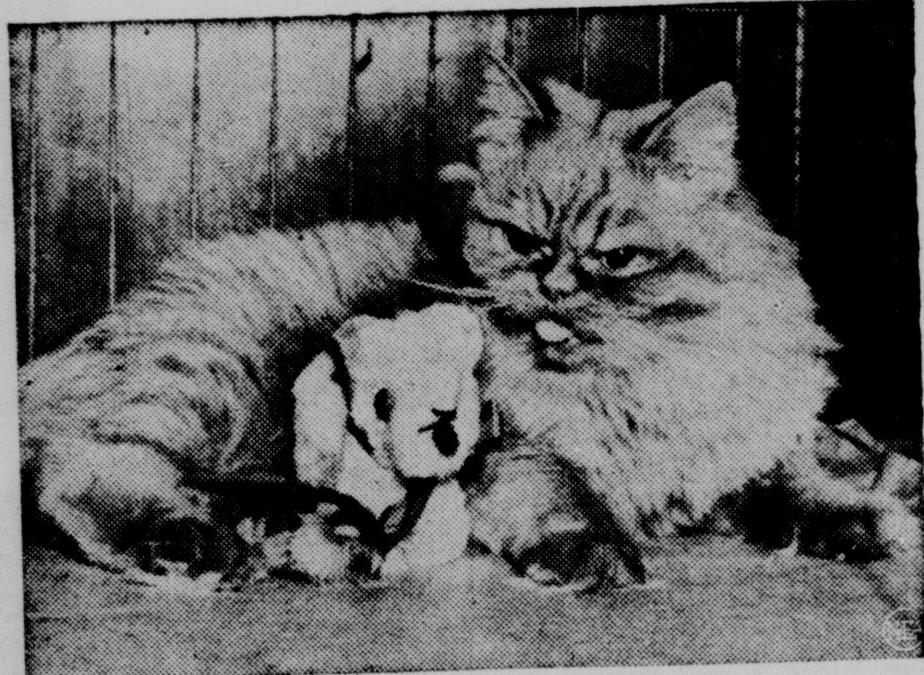

Monday evening Elizabeth Huff, winner of the Voice of Democracy contest, recorded her speech at one of the local radio stations. This recording will be sent to Jefferson City, where it will be judged with speeches from all of Missouri. Elizabeth is to give her speech for the Junior Chamber of Commerce Tuesday at its meeting.

Several speech students have begun work on their speeches which they will give at the Rockhurst speech contest this spring. So far there will be students competing in the dramatic field, orations and the humorous and apologetics fields.

A program of music is being prepared by the Sacred Heart glee club to be presented at one of the local radio stations in several weeks.

A movie was shown to the American History and the English Literature classes Monday. The movie was about St. Louis University.

Hibernation results not so much from cold weather as from the lack of normal sources of food for the hibernating animals.

NYAAAH—That's exactly how "Sandria" feels as she sticks her tongue out disapprovingly at the prank someone played on her. The prankster placed a toy dog near her, but it'll take more than that to upset Sandria, as she makes an appearance at a cat show in Atlanta, Ga.

Could Pearl Harbor Happen Again, On 13th Anniversary?

PEARL HARBOR, Dec. 7 (AP)—This is the 13th anniversary of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor. Could it happen again?

This question drew a yes and no answer as the anniversary was observed by a simple wreath-laying ceremony on the platform built on the rusting hulk of the battleship Arizona, tomb for 1,174 sailors trapped when it overturned during Japan's surprise attack in 1941.

Consensus of high-ranking Army and Navy and Air Force officers could be summed up as follows:

No matter how much money is spent or how elaborate a defense is devised, military men will not guarantee absolute success in stopping a surprise assault.

Does Hawaii have the manpower to stop an attack?

One high-ranking Air Force officer says:

"We have below minimum requirements. But the threat (to Hawaii) is below standard."

Actually Hawaii's greatest defense is the huge mass of water between the islands and a potential enemy and the screen of outposts extending from Alaska down through the Aleutians, Japan, Okinawa, Formosa, the Philippines and Southeast Asia.

Electronic detection gear, submarines, patrol ships and planes keep a constant vigil for any warlike moves toward the United States. Although this giant defense arc serves well against any major moves it has gaping holes for any sneak punch.

The Navy and Marines have relatively few jet fighters in Hawaii. The Air Force depends on a National Guard jet squadron in an emergency. Pearl Harbor is home port for some warships, and transient warships, including carriers, pass through here frequently. All would be available in an emergency.

What about air replacements?

An Air Force officer frankly admits it would take at least 72 hours before the first replacement plane from the mainland could be on its way.

Military men are hopeful intelligence will give at least a 72-hour warning if and when the cold war turns hot. If it doesn't, what lesson did the military learn from Dec. 7, chaos of 13 years ago? The answer to this, military planners in Hawaii say, is summed up in three words: unity of command. In Hawaii, this is the Hawaiian Defense Command.

HDC is an emergency organization made up of components from existing Army, Navy and Air Force units and the civil defense organization. Its job is to defend Hawaii and see that everyone "gets the word."

If an aggressor does strike, HDC is geared to handle the postdisaster situation. It also is the organization responsible in civil disasters and operates an effective tidal wave warning system.

Iran Shah, Wife Make Informal Visit' Here

NEW YORK (AP)—Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlevi of Iran and his queen are in the United States for an "informal visit" scheduled to last until Feb. 9. They arrived by plane yesterday.

Queen Soraya said the Shah plans to have "a medical checkup and possibly to undergo some medical treatment."

Most Important Day In Your Life May Be S-D Day

Wednesday, Dec. 15, may be the most important day of your life. Combined efforts of pedestrians and drivers on that day to eliminate traffic accidents may be the thing that will save you from being involved in a fatal accident.

With these words, the state director of S-D Day, Col. Hugh H. Waggoner, called attention to the urgency for every individual to support the nation-wide safety program designed to stop traffic accidents for a 24-hour period. Dec. 15.

Col. Waggoner, who is also the head of the Missouri State Highway Patrol, said that S-D Day gives every person an opportunity to demonstrate dramatically that the traffic problem can be conquered and that we need not tolerate the tragedies that are occurring on our highways.

He urges every person whether a driver or pedestrian to pledge support to the S-D Day safety program by doing everything in their power to keep free of accidents.

Persons wishing to help in the S-D Day program should contact their local director for S-D Day.

Two rules that will help eliminate highway accidents everyday are:

Observe all traffic laws, signals, signs and road markings.

Let courtesy and good judgment dictate your driving and walking.

Actress Will Greet Guests for $10,000

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actress Joan Crawford will say "hello" to guests at cocktail party and get paid a reported $10,000 for doing it.

She'll act as hostess at the opening of the Hotel Riviera in Las Vegas April 8. Her agent confirmed the engagement today and said the star's sole duties will be to appear and greet guests at the party.

Shoots Nail Through Body and Survives

SHOEBURYNESS, England (AP)—John Waller, 39, was trying to fix a gun used to drive nails into hard wood when it went off and shot a nail through his stomach and out his back. He was in fair condition at a hospital.

The Navy and Marines have relatively few jet fighters in Hawaii.

The Air Force depends on a National Guard jet squadron in an emergency. Pearl Harbor is home port for some warships, and transient warships, including carriers, pass through here frequently. All would be available in an emergency.

What about air replacements?

An Air Force officer frankly admits it would take at least 72 hours before the first replacement plane from the mainland could be on its way.

Military men are hopeful intelligence will give at least a 72-hour warning if and when the cold war turns hot. If it doesn't, what lesson did the military learn from Dec. 7, chaos of 13 years ago? The answer to this, military planners in Hawaii say, is summed up in three words: unity of command.

In Hawaii, this is the Hawaiian Defense Command.

HDC is an emergency organization made up of components from existing Army, Navy and Air Force units and the civil defense organization. Its job is to defend Hawaii and see that everyone "gets the word."

If an aggressor does strike, HDC is geared to handle the postdisaster situation. It also is the organization responsible in civil disasters and operates an effective tidal wave warning system.

Last night the little boy died. But there will be a party because he wanted it that way.

Bobby, who would have been 11 on the date set for the party, suffered with muscular dystrophy for five years. Sunday the ailment began to attack his breathing muscles. That was when they almost called off the Christmas party.

It had been arranged by Ray Bailey, a bread truck driver, who had been the youngster's companion since learning of his plight a year ago. And the Los Angeles County chapter of the Muscular Dystrophy Assn. aided with arrangements.

Bobby was to have watched all the fun from a bed on the stage of the Legion auditorium. His friends in the Cub Scouts and men from civic clubs pitched in to line up bands, clowns, singers, dancers and other entertainers.

Ike Could Have Avoided Serious Party Split Over McCarthy

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The public's memory is short. But a statesman's memory must be long. And during the McCarthy debate the President, Mr. Nixon, and others must have experienced some interesting flashbacks as to what happened with some of the same principals in the McCarthy debate only a short time ago.

Last October, Senator William Knowland of California, Eisenhower's so-called Republican leader, attending the funeral of Senator Pat McCarran in Nevada, conferred with Jenner of Indiana, Welker of Idaho, others of McCarthy's stanchest friends. Together they planned the fight to block his censure. After the funeral they came away dead certain Bill Knowland would vote with them. They were not disappointed.

Flashback No. 1—Meanwhile Senator Knowland said nothing. He said nothing until last week when he rose to announce he would vote for McCarthy. Knowland is heavy-built, slow-moving. His speech can be ponderous, deliberate. "After great searching of my conscience, and mindful of the responsibilities I feel heavily from sitting in this chair," he said, "I shall not vote for the censure resolution. . . . The decision was not an easy one. . . . I arrived at it only last night."

McCarthy supporters smiled. The speech was no news to them.

Flashback No. 2—It was September, 1952. Tom Dewey, the man who got Eisenhower nominated and was then his closest adviser, came to see him. He knew Ike was leaving for Milwaukee, where he must either be nice to Joe McCarthy or be tough with him. Dewey spent two hours with Eisenhower urging him to be tough.

"You will have to face this issue sooner or later," he said in brief, "and you might as well face it now. I ducked on the issue of Curley Brooks (Chicago Tribune candidate for senator) when I campaigned in Illinois and it cost me votes. You can't compromise with the McCarthy wing of the party."

Eisenhower followed his advice, inserted two paragraphs in his Milwaukee speech defending his old friend, General George Marshall, indirectly criticizing McCarthy. One day later, GOP stalwarts Arthur Summerfield, Ferguson of Michigan, Hickenlooper of Iowa, with Tom Coleman of Wisconsin, flew to Ike's train, urged him to revise his speech. McCarthy himself did the final persuading when smuggled up the service elevator of the Pere Marquette Hotel in Peoria. Ike yielded. He smiled on McCarthy in Wisconsin. McCarthy was re-elected.

Flashback No. 3 — Eisenhower was on the stage at a political rally in Indianapolis. Senator Jenner of Indiana sat beside him. Ike was obviously unhappy. Jenner had called George Marshall, the man who promoted Ike from lieutenant colonel to lieutenant general in one year, a "front man for traitors" and "a living lie." But the candidate for President had been told he had to endorse all GOP candidates. He couldn't disclaim it. It was part of politics.

So he posed before the cameras while Jenner, gloating in the limelight, held up his hand like a champ boxer bowing to the crowd.

Last week, the same Senator Jenner strode up and down the aisle of the Senate chamber. This time he held both hands clenched over his head. This time he laughed hysterically. "Poor old Zwicker," he chorused, "he does not count. He is out the window. Zwicker is out and now you want to fight communism."

He threw his arms as if pitching a ball, then strode up and down the aisle, both fists clenched over his head, as scornful of anti-McCarthy Republicans as he had been of General Marshall four years before.

Flashback No. 4 — It was March, 1953. The new President had been in office just two months. Suddenly, Joe McCarthy announced that he had made an agreement with certain Greek ship owners regarding trade behind the Iron Curtain. Making agreements with foreigners is not the prerogative of Congress. That was threshed out in the days of George Washington, and there's a law on the books making it a prison offense for a congressman to meddle with foreign policy.

Knowing this, Harold Stassen, whose job it was to administer foreign shipping, issued a statement putting McCarthy in his place. McCarthy, he said, had "undermined" U.S. policy.

Next day, Vice President Nixon, then chief defender of Joe McCarthy, ran down to the State Department, then to the White House. Later Eisenhower announced that McCarthy had not "undermined" administration policy. Later Stassen issued a humble statement, eating crow.

Last week, the same Vice President Nixon presided over the Senate.

From the rostrum he looked down on his Republican colleagues, torn apart by a debate which should have been settled two years before—settled by a firm leadership from him and the President.

Other Flashbacks—There were many other memories that flashed through the minds of senators watching that debate—memories which also may have flashed through the mind of the President himself. . . . Alben Barkley of Kentucky in 1944 resigning as majority leader before, not after, he made a speech differing with FDR. Knowland, differing with Ike time after time, has not resigned. . . . The Army-McCarthy hearings, which split a Republican administration and a Republican Senate and which were hastened to a close because of bad reaction to washing dirty linen in public. . . . The Democratic prediction that they would help on major policy. But usually a political split of this kind splits a leader like Lyndon Johnson keeping every one of his votes in line, solidly without defection, in contrast to Republican disruption across the Senate aisle.

And more than anything else, there were flashbacks to the same foreign policy that haunted Herbert Hoover, the split between the isolationists and interventionists—the memories of Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson in London announcing that we would consult with Europe in case war threatened, while Hoover in Washington was telling a press conference we would not consult.

That's the crisis regarding which the Republican party sorely needs time to lick its wounds. That's the split which has aroused more inter-party bitterness than since the days of Hoover. Can those wounds be healed? Eisenhower needs them healed to carry out a consistent foreign policy. But usually a political split of this kind widens rather than narrows.

Bed Rest Will Help Save Limbs of Neuritis Victims

By Edwin P. Jordan, M.D.

Again the request has come in to devote a column to the subject of polyneuritis. Most readers, perhaps, are more familiar with the term "neuritis" which has been discussed more frequently. Actually, there is not a great deal of difference, since the "poly" part of the name merely means inflammation and pain in several nerves instead of a single one as is the case in neuritis.

Polyneuritis is often an irritating problem. Too frequently it tends to get worse as time goes on, though this is not always the case. Not infrequently the parts of the body supplied by the affected nerves show weakness, wasting of the muscles, pain, tenderness and even changes in sensation or the ability to feel.

Sometimes the pain is severe and once in a while the interference with sensation is so great that a pin can be stuck into the skin of the affected areas without being felt at all.

There are a host of other possible causes. Most of the well-known metals, such as mercury, bismuth, arsenic and lead are responsible in some cases. Vitamin deficiency diseases, particularly beriberi, which is a vitamin "B" deficiency, and pellagra may be at fault.

Polyneuritis sometimes develops from general dietary deficiencies during pregnancy and in the presence of such general diseases as diabetes or pernicious anemia. Chronic alcoholism can produce this condition. Infections may also produce polyneuritis. Polyneuritis is a frequent symptom of so-called rheumatic infection. It may complicate typhoid fever, scarlet fever, influenza, mumps and almost any of the well-known infectious diseases.

Whether severe or mild, the cure of polyneuritis depends on finding the cause. If caused by a vitamin deficiency, for example, the proper treatment is to treat the deficiency in the diet. When complicating known infections, recovery generally takes place without special measures as the patient improves from the disease responsible.

Rest in bed is usually needed not only because of the muscular weakness, but also because the heart may become involved. Serious deformities can develop because of the muscular weakness if the limbs are not supported by splints, sandbags or other means.

A victim of polyneuritis is indeed to be pitied. The pain and the muscular weakness usually interfere with walking or with the use of the hands and arms, depending on where the trouble is located. Treatment usually requires great patience on the part of the "patient" and ingenuity on the part of the physician.

This War Will SAVE Lives

One segment of the United States Government has entered a war that will find popular support among the people because it is designed to save both lives and money. The battleground will be the nation's streets and highways and the goal will be conquest of the growing toll of human lives and property loss resulting from traffic accidents.

Last year (1953) a total of 38,300 men, women and children were killed in traffic mishaps, and the economic loss, including property damage, hospital and medical expense and other costs, was placed at 4 billion dollars. Most of it could have been prevented.

The President's Action Committee for Traffic Safety has taken the initiative in a war of prevention by setting aside Dec. 15 as Safe-Driving Day when drivers and pedestrians alike will be called upon to observe all written laws governing traffic, and the unwritten laws of courtesy on the streets and highways.

Strict observance of Safe-Driving Day by all drivers and pedestrians will without doubt cut the traffic toll for that day. If the toll can be reduced on one day of the year by strict observance and enforcement plus courtesies it can be held to a minimum on all other days of the year by the same methods.

Safe-Driving Day could well be extended into a Safe-Driving year.

H Bonds

Treasury Department is stepping up its program to sell its H savings bonds to salaried workers, small investors and particularly to older people who may not live out the ten-year period required for E-bond maturity. The H bonds, which come in $500, $1,000, $5,000 and $10,000 denominations, pay interest semi-annually.

Although H bonds have been available since April, 1952, less than $1 billion worth have been sold, as compared to over $36 billion of E bonds outstanding. Treasury officials are still trying to work out plans which will permit H bonds to be held in personal trust funds, and sold under payroll deductions as the E bonds are now sold.

Local Option Gains

Temperance officials claim they have won more than half of the local option elections held since the repeal of prohibition, 20 years ago. There have been over 36,000 local option elections, and the drys have won 21,000 of them, according to Dr. Caradine R. Hooton, executive secretary of the Methodist Board of Temperance. The breakdown on 920 local option elections in 21 states during the past year shows 333 voting dry, no change; 439 voting wet, no change; 84 wet voting dry, and 64 dry voting wet. The net dry gain is 20 elections. At least 25 million Americans now live in dry areas.

'Gosh, Mr. Malik—I Thought You Were Vishinsky'

The World Today—Choice of Butler Is Shrewd

By DON WHITEHEAD
(For James Marlow)

WASHINGTON (AP)—Adlai Stevenson and his lieutenants have completed one of the most subtle and successful campaigns of recent political history with the election of Paul M. Butler of Indiana as Democratic national chairman.

The choice of Butler is in reality the climax of a two-year drive by Stevenson to overhaul the party machinery, heal old wounds, wipe out a campaign deficit of some $800,000 and restore the unity which was shattered in the election of 1952.

In this period, the party's center of gravity has shifted from former President Harry S. Truman to Stevenson, who is now by all odds the party's strong man. And perhaps it was planned that Stevenson paid court to the Southland. He soothed the Southerners, whose pride had been hurt in the fight over the "loyalty oath" in the 1952 national convention.

He made friends for himself in Dixie where feeling had run so high against Harry Truman.

And yet while wooing the South, he didn't snub Truman. He often conferred with him and managed to keep his support.

Stevenson never displayed this political finesse to better advantage than he did early last September when Democratic leaders met in Kansas City to plan a fundraising drive and to map campaign strategy.

Stevenson could easily have dominated that meeting had he wished. But instead he deferred to Truman and encouraged Truman to take the spotlight.

Truman responded by urging the party to double its campaign fund in the fight for control of Congress—an appeal, incidentally, which was heeded and which may well have given the Democrats the extra punch they needed to gain control of Congress.

The payoff on Stevenson's political skill came at New Orleans last Saturday when his choice, Butler, was elected easily to the Democratic chairmanship with 70 of the national committee's 105 votes.

Just about the only question left to be answered is this: Will Stevenson use this political finesse to gain his party's presidential nomination in 1956?

A great many political experts think he will.

Democrat Pick-Ups

Odds and Ends
By News Staff

A committee meeting was to be held at the home of a Sedalia man and he thought it would be nice to serve a lunch to the men after the meeting. He asked his wife and she bought extra food and went to quite a little work fixing the lunch. In the kitchen she had everything prepared just ready to serve as soon as the meeting was over and she and the young daughter of the family waited and waited and wondered. He was to come and tell them when to get the coffee ready—but he didn't come.

After awhile they heard the voices as if the men were leaving and the next thing the door shut behind them and the man of the house walked in very unconcerned. Both mother and daughter looked at him questioningly.

"Is the meeting over?" asked his wife.

"Yes, and they have all gone," he replied.

"But what about the lunch? I thought you wanted to serve a lunch?" she asked.

"Oh," said the man, "I forgot all about the lunch."

The mother and daughter looked at him a little disgusted but father broke into a nice big smile: "I'll eat it," he said—and did.

Commercial, Home Building Resumes In KC After Agreement

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 6 (AP)—Commercial and home building brought to a near standstill by the 14-weeks strike of plumbers, resumed slowly today.

John Gorman, business manager of Plumbers Local No. 8 said it probably would take a week or so to get all the 850 to 900 craftsmen back on the jobs. Many had gone to Chicago, St. Louis and Colorado Springs for employment.

Many workmen from non-striking crafts had been laid off by the strike, ended last night when the union and the contractors reached an agreement. Major point in the settlement was a 15-cent an hour increase, making the hourly wage for journeymen $3.15.

Court Ruling On Trucking Causes Stir

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court ruled yesterday that states may not bar interstate truckers from their highways, even for repeated and illegal overloading.

And that decision set off a new round of discussion today on the effect of heavy trucks on the nation's highway system, and how to enforce weight limits imposed by states.

Two influentially placed Democrats—Sen. Monroney of Oklahoma and Rep. Harris of Arkansas—said the new Congress may consider giving states more police power. But a spokesman for the American Trucking Associations said present laws are quite adequate.

The Supreme Court, in an Illinois case, declared that only the Interstate Commerce Commission can grant permits to truck companies for traffic involving more than one state. And so, the court held, only the ICC can abridge that permit.

The 8-0 decision voided part of an Illinois law which provided that the state could suspend an interstate trucker from its highways for 90 days upon 10 loading violations, or one year and 90 days after another 10 violations.

The court said that states to enforce their weight limits, may (1) still impose fines or other penalties for violations or (2) ask the ICC to take away the permit of habitual violators.

The opinion, written by Justice Black, said the ICC itself requires trucking firms to comply with proper state laws and regulations, so there is no reason why the ICC may not protect the state's interests on its own initiative or on complaint by the state.

Illinois, joined by Indiana and the American Automobile Assn., had argued that loss of the state's power to suspend truckers from its highways would leave a state without sufficient means to compel compliance. State officials contend that trucking companies could make more than enough money off of excessive loads to pay for mere fines.

Peter T. Beardsey, director of the law department for the trucking associations, today called this a "ridiculous contention." He said fines and other penalties already provided in state law are more than adequate to deter any would-be violators, if properly enforced.

Shriner Says Young Talent Has a Chance

NEW YORK (AP)—In these days of television, says Herb Shriner, if a youngster has any talent at all he'll get his chance.

In fact, he observes, a kid of 6 or 8 can be an overnight sensation on TV "and become a has-been before he ever was."

It wasn't like that in the old days, according to the Hoosier humorist. He says that in the vaudeville era many talented performers were around for years without getting anywhere.

"A lot of people are getting an opportunity now who'd never have gotten it then," he says. "You don't stay around long undiscovered to day."

Shriner's Two for the Money is broadcast simultaneously over CBS' radio and TV networks and he's happy with the arrangement because "anybody who doesn't have TV is bound to get you on radio."

"In fact," he observes, "if television had come along first a lot of people probably would have raved about how wonderful radio is because you can tune in a program without getting those unsightly pictures."

"Reminds me of some folks back home who had the picture tube of their set burn out, so they took it out and put some nuts and fruit in the hole and used the set like a radio just to listen."

A new series of half-hour filmed programs entitled "conquest of the Air and telling the story of the growth of the Air Force and of aviation will begin on CBS television in the fall of 1955.

Duquesne Has To Emulate Its Nickname

By ED CORRIGAN

If Duquesne hopes to win the National basketball title this year, the club is going to have to live up to its nickname, the Iron Dukes. Coach Dudley Moore has a powerful first five at his command, but beyond the regulars, he has trouble enough to cause many a gray hair.

The Dukes, rated No. 3 in the preseason Associated Press poll, preseas their campaign last night with an easy 75-52 conquest of Carnegie Tech. Moore kept his star forward Dick Ricketts in for all but four minutes, and he scored 34 points. His younger brother Dave, making his first start as a sophomore, had six points.

Defending Big Ten champion Indiana had a rough night and bowed to Missouri 64-61. It appears that the key to beating the Hoosiers is to get rid of All America Don Schlundt.

Schlundt had 23 points to lead both teams, but he was benched more than five minutes with four personal fouls.

Iowa, heir-apparent to the Big Ten throne, opened its campaign with an 84-61 victory over Nebraska. The Hawkeyes built up a commanding lead in the second half and Coach Bucks O'Connor wound up using 15 players.

Dr. Phog Allen of Kansas sent four sophomores and a junior into action in the opener and they emerged with an 83-58 conquest of Louisiana State. It was the 30th home victory in a row for Kansas.

Tennessee Tech edged Eastern Kentucky 85-80 in five overtimes. This is a rarity but has happened several times before.

Vanderbilt downed Washington and Lee 104-88.

Wisconsin breezed to an 80-68 victory over Western Michigan, while the University of Detroit won its third straight, beating Bowling Green of Ohio 91-60. Loyola of Chicago whipped North Dakota State 90-75. Washington University of St. Louis turned back Mississippi State 66-44. Marquette crushed Creighton 96-63. Tulsa trounced Baylor 60-48. Arizona edged Kansas 86-81, and Colorado halted Brigham Young 65-66 in other major games.

Central College Gives Notice of Intention To Be Big Contender

FAYETTE, Mo. (AP)—Coach Dick Brumitt's Central College Eagles have served notice they'll be contender for basketball honors in the 1954-55 season.

Last night the Eagles scored 100-plus points for the second time in two games by beating Friends University of Wichita, 106-85. Last week the Eagles opened their schedule 104-59 against Kansas City University.

La Monte Cagers Trip Green Ridge By 64-57 Monday

The La Monte High School cagers dumped Green Ridge Monday night by 64-57 in a PBCAA Conference game on the Green Ridge court.

La Monte opened with a rousing first quarter lead of 26-8, but the visitors lost their steam quickly and were played to a 14-14 deadlock in the second frame as the half ended with La Monte leading 40-22.

The host team outscored La Monte in the last two periods, but their effort was in vain, not being enough to overcome the 18 point deficit of the first quarter.

Despite defeat, Green Ridge's Ruffin took scoring honors with 23 points. Wells of La Monte scored 19, followed closely by his teammate Burke with 18.

Consolation was had by the Green Ridge volleyballers as they drubbed the La Monte netters by 24-16. Templeton of Green Ridge was high scorer with seven followed by La Monte's Hontz with five.

La Monte will host Warsaw in a PBCAA Conference game Friday, Dec. 17. La Monte holds an overall record of 8-4 to date, and a 3-0 conference record for the season.

Navy's Coach Enjoys Team's Latest Honor As Mythical Champ

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—Mythical football champion of the East is the latest honor to be voted Navy and the more the merrier is the reaction of Coach Eddie Erdelatz today.

"I'm happy to see this team get every honor it can because if ever one deserves it, this one does," he said upon learning Navy won the Lambert Trophy.

"I'm glad when individual players receive awards," Erdelatz said. "But winning the Lambert Trophy makes me even happier because it is a reward for team effort and that's what we owe our success to this season."

Navy clinched the trophy by beating Army 27-20 in the last game of the regular season. Of the 97 football writers and broadcasters who balloted for the award, 77 favored Navy and 11 Army.

This year's Navy team won seven, the most in one season since 1945, and lost 6-0 to Notre Dame and 21-19 to Pitt.

Battle Plans Are Drawn Up By the Majors

NEW YORK (AP) — Battle plans were being drawn today as the National and American Leagues raced to become the first to invade the lucrative Pacific Coast territory.

That was the big news as officials of the two major leagues admitted they were discussing possible expansion to a 10-club operation. Los Angeles and San Francisco territory are the objectives.

After the American League announced its realignment committee had been increased to four members headed by Frank Lane of the Chicago White Sox, the National loop admitted for the first time it had also discussed the "Golden West."

The American League committee will report at the summer meetings in Milwaukee next July. However, the National League will assemble in New York again in February to talk over the West Coast program.

Phil Wrigley, owner of the Chicago Cubs and Los Angeles Angels of the Pacific Coast League, submitted a detailed report to the National League at a secret session Nov. 22.

His report, giving details for Los Angeles and San Francisco, also included reports on Montreal, Toronto, and the Minneapolis-St. Paul area. The report listed railroad mileage, transportation costs and a sample schedule of 162 games.

The American League committee, which also came up with a sample 162-game schedule, was given authority to screen applicants to determine whether their baseball parks would meet major league requirements. The committee also was authorized to investigate the financial stability of any prospective group.

LaSalle Shares Cage Limelight With Kentucky

La Salle and the University of Kentucky rated 1-2 today as the top college basketball teams in the country in a preseason Associated Press poll.

La Salle captured the NCAA tournament last spring, while Kentucky was ranked No. 1 in the final AP poll after that tourney was completed. Kentucky was undefeated in the 1953-54 season, and stayed out of the NCAA tourney because three of its stars were ineligible.

With 61 sports writers and broadcasters balloting, La Salle received 34 first-place votes and 17 for second to roll up 549 points. Kentucky got 13 first-place votes and 343 points based on 10 for first, 9 for second, etc.

The leading teams with first-place votes in parentheses:

Reuther Lauds Legacy of New Deal, Fair Deal

By NORMAN WALKER
LOS ANGELES (AP)—CIO President Walter Reuther said Monday a "legacy" of New Deal and "Fair Deal" legislation inherited by President Eisenhower's administration has helped save the nation from a full-blown depression.

Reuther said in a report prepared for opening sessions of the CIO's annual convention that the economic future looks none too bright unless there is a big increase in consumer buying power through higher wages and increased government spending.

"It is better," he said, "to have an unbalanced budget than to have an unbalanced economy in which a few are prosperous and many are in need."

Accusing the Eisenhower administration of "a do-nothing, care-nothing unemployment policy," the CIO chief maintained that union collective bargaining and social measures enacted under prior Democratic administrations have prevented economic collapse.

During the past year, he said, taking any large-scale wave of mass wage cuts as had occurred during most previous economic declines. "As the economy moved downward there was a natural rise in unemployment compensation payments to the jobless. Together with an increase in other social security payments, they partially offset the decline in personal income. The government's farm price support program kept farm income from greater collapse.

The stabilizing forces that were built into the economy during the Roosevelt and Truman administrations helped to prevent a precipitous decline."

Reuther urged further wage boosts, government-aided housing and public works plans, reduced taxes on lower incomes, and higher minimum wage and unemployment compensation levels to bolster consumer purchasing power.

"A resumption of economic growth," he said, "can result only from an increase in spending."

The animal referred to in the United States as an Elk is technically a wapiti, the true elk being a European animal.

Work Is Slow On Russia's Power Plant

MOSCOW (AP) — Work has fallen behind schedule on Russia's proudest enterprise—the giant Kuibyshev hydroelectric plant on the Volga River, which the Soviets call the world's biggest.

A speedup has been ordered so that the plant can be put in operation in 1955. They've already been working on it five years. The order is disclosed in Pravda, the Communist party newspaper.

How are they going to get it done?

The most drastic step has been to cut down the administrative, or white collar, personnel on the project and send surplus desk jockeys out to wield picks and shovels.

Pravda says the job can be done in time if everybody now patriotically "goes to work earnestly and harder to fulfill this task of the motherland to make the station begin operating in 1955."

Pravda says Kuibyshev will have a capacity of 2,100,000 kilowatts and "every year it will deliver to industry and agriculture 10 billion kilowatts of power."

In and about the complex of plants, says "Pravda," they've already constructed 250 miles of railway and 125 miles of motor highways.

"Now construction has entered its decisive period," Pravda says. "The tempo is increasing from day to day—but they are still lagging behind the plan. The construction administration did not utilize full facilities and it is now necessary to improve the quality of direction. With this aim, they are reducing the administration personnel . . ."

To help Kuibyshev along—and the Soviet electric power industry in general—the Malenkov government recently created a new cabinet ministry for electric plant construction, Feodor G. Loginov was named its head.

Says Pledge Of Demos To Cooperate Has Been Thrown Into The Ashcan

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6—(P)—Leonard W. Hall, chairman of the Republican National Committee, said Monday "a pledge of Democrat leaders to cooperate with President Eisenhower in the best interests of the nation has been thrown into the ashcan."

This has become "perfectly clear," Hall said, from the opening declaration of the new Democratic national chairman, Paul M. Butler.

Butler said yesterday at a New Orleans meeting of the Democratic committee:

"We intend to call to the attention of the American people President Eisenhower's lack of capacity to govern and to unite the people. The responsibility is with the President to see that the nation is united and there is ever-increasing evidence of his lack of capacity to do it."

Butler also said it has become "more and more apparent that a military background is not a full and complete preparation for a chief executive."

Hall's statement followed a call at the White House; President Eisenhower made no comment.

Prince Charles Tells Santa He Wants Bike

LONDON (AP) — Prince Charles, heir apparent to the British throne, told Santa Claus firmly that what he wants for Christmas is a bicycle. And not just any bicycle either.

Taking Santa by the hand in the toy department of a London store yesterday, the 6-year-old prince led him over to array of shiny wheels, put his hand on one of them and said:

"This is the one, the very one."

"I see I will have to make a special note of this," said Santa Claus.

West German Army Will Have Uniforms Like the Americans

BONN, Germany (AP)—The jack boot and Prussian steel helmet, old symbols of German aggression, the "Eisenhower jacket" and slacks for off-duty dress, won't be worn by the new West German army to be brought into the North Atlantic Alliance when the Paris agreements are ratified.

West German frontier guardsmen told the committee they preferred a peaked cap for off-duty wear as it was more attractive to the girls.

Mix-up In Prisoners Gives Day's Freedom To the Wrong One

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Sunday night county jailers had an order to release John H. Jarnigan, 43, pending his Burbank appearance Dec. 9 on a drunk driving charge. But somehow they released, instead, John H. Jernigan, 27, a convicted robber awaiting transportation to San Quentin Prison.

Then they had to release Jarnigan too.

Yesterday a deputy sheriff waited at Jernigan's home and bagged him when he appeared late in the day. He denied he had tried to flee and had, in fact, worked all day yesterday for a plastering contractor.

"I thought my lawyer had got me out on bail," he said.

The uniform shown to the parliamentary security committee includes service dress, battle dress, working overalls and a uniform for wear off duty.

With the service dress, of loose blouse and ski pants, the German soldier will wear a jaunty ski cap.

Officials calculate it will cost about 238 million dollars to outfit the 500,000 members of the future force.

With the service dress, of loose blouse and ski pants, the German soldier will wear a jaunty ski cap.

Officials say the color of the uniform has not yet been decided. Model uniforms now being tried are khaki. But the old field gray of the Kaiser's army or olive green might be chosen. That depends on whether officials decide the German soldiers should have a distinctive color to give them individuality among the NATO forces or whether they should look as much like their allies as possible.
